In 1708, a young Johann Sebastian Bach, frustrated with inadequate conditions and pay in Mühlhausen, accepted a contract with his former employers, the Duchy of Saxe-Weimar. During the following years, he served as court organist and chamber musician and produced many works exhibiting both youthful vivacity and remarkable competency. This opening concert of the festival centers around Bach's works from this period, as well as a piece by a composer he came to know during his tenure in Weimar, Prince Johann Ernst. His influence is not to be undervalued, as Bach transcribed several of his pieces for keyboard, as well as the Italian concertos Ernst brought back from his studies in Utrecht. The prince's careful study of the French and Italian styles is evident in his Violin Concerto in D minor, which begins with a formidable ouverture contrasting stark Adagio and cascading Presto, followed by two movements in Italian ritornello form.

After being exposed to this new Italian style and doing a few transcriptions, Bach began to compose concerti himself including a number of “concerti grossi,” or concertos for multiple solo instruments. Unlike the Italians, whose compositions were mostly for violin, Bach's output was more egalitarian, featuring all the orchestral instruments then in use. His only concerto grosso with no violins featured two violas and a cello as soloists, backed by two violas da gamba, violone, and harpsichord, forming in essence a deluxe continuo section. Bach later included this work as the sixth entry in the collection of concerti for diverse instruments that he presented to Christian Ludwig, Margrave of Brandenburg, in 1721.

Bach's relationship with librettist Salomon Franck marks another important development during the Weimar years. Weinen, Klagen, Sorgen, Zagen, composed for Jubilate Sunday during Bach's second month of tenure, contains what is likely his first setting of Franck's sacred verse. The connection between text and music is impeccable, from the first words of the opening chorus, which depict lamentation and wailing with a plaintive motif passed between the voices (and on which Bach based the Crucifixus in the B minor mass). The following aria reminds us that Christ's sacrifice and our heavenly reward are intrinsically bound, professed by an exquisite melody mirrored in turn by oboe and alto soloist. With an uplifting change in character, the next movement reflects on a resolution to follow Christ eternally. Then comes a reassuring tenor aria, juxtaposed with the chorale Jesu, meine Freude played by solo trumpet. The German-speaking listener would have heard “After the rain, blessing blossoms, all storms pass away” accompanied by a melody associated with “Jesus, my joy, my heart's pasture – Jesus, my treasure.”

Between the two cantatas is Bach's transcription of a lost violin concerto by Prince Johann Ernst. As in the concerto heard earlier, sections played tutti alternate with those played by the soloists. Listen for changes in the registration and color of the organ to reflect this instrumentation.

Erschallet, ihr Lieder was the third of Bach's cantatas written in Weimar, composed for the feast of Pentecost. Bach adds three trumpets and timpani for the festive occasion, and sets another text by Franck. After a rousing fanfare in triple meter establishes a festive tone, a recitative sung by bass quotes the vox Christi in the Gospel of John, promising divine love to the faithful. The corresponding aria addresses the theme of the Holy Trinity, the three trumpets reflecting the idea of three persons in one. A sweeping, legato melody played by violins introduces the theme of the next movement, the breath of the Holy Spirit which brought life to the world, clearly containing an allegory for the Pentecostal wind. In the sweet duet that follows, a Soprano (representing the soul) beckons the “heavenly wind” to come into her heart, answered by an alto (the Holy Spirit), assuring her of its renewal. The final chorale depicts the quiet joy attained through God's invitation into communion with him, a soaring descant played by the violins descending to a peaceful resolution in the final bars.

1. Sinfonia
2. Chor
Weinen, Klagen, Sorgen, Zagen, Angst und Not
Sind der Christen Tränenbrot,
Die das Zeichen Jesu tragen.
3. Recitativ (Arioso) – Alt
Wir müssen durch viel Trübsal in das Reich Gottes eingehen.
4. Arie – Alto
Kreuz und Krone sind verbunden,
Kampf und Kleinod sind vereint.
Christen haben alle Stunden
Ihre Qual und ihren Feind, Doch ihr Trost sind Christi Wunden.
5. Arie – Bass
Ich folge Christo nach,
Von ihm will ich nicht lassen
Im Wohl und Ungemach, Im Leben und Erblassen.
Ich küsse Christi Schmach,
Ich will sein Kreuz umfassen.
6. Arie – Tenore
Sei getreu, alle Pein
Wird doch nur ein Kleines sein.
Nach dem Regen
Blüht der Segen, Alles Wetter geht vorbei.
Sei getreu, sei getreu!
7. Choral
Was Gott tut, das ist wohlgetan, Dabei will ich verbleiben.
Es mag mich auf die rauhe Bahn
Not, Tod und Elend treiben.
So wird Got mich
Ganz väterlich
In seinen Armen halten:
Drum laß ich ihn nur walten.

1. Sinfonia
2. Chorus
Weeping, lamentation, worry, despair, anguish and distress are the bread of tears of Christians who bear the mark of Jesus.
3. Recitative (Arioso) – Alto
We must enter the Kingdom of God through much tribulation.
4. Aria – Alto:
Cross and crown are bound together, struggle and reward are united.
Christians have at all hours their anguish and their enemy, yet their comforts are Christ's wounds.
5. Aria – Bass
I follow after Christ,
I will not leave Him
in prosperity and adversity,
in life and mortality.
I kiss Christ's shame,
I will embrace His cross.
6. Aria – Tenor
Be faithful, all pain will yet be only a little thing.
After the rain
blessing blossoms,
all weather passes away.
Be faithful, be faithful!
7. Chorale
What God does, that is done well,
I will cling to this.
Along the harsh path trouble, death and misery may drive me.
Yet God will,
just like a father,
hold me in His arms:
therefore I let Him alone rule.

Erschallet, ihr Lieder, erklinget, ihr Saiten!

1. Chorus
Ring out, you songs, resound, you strings!
Oh blessed times!
God will prepare our souls to be his temples.

2. Recitative – Bass
Who loves me will keep my word and my father will love him and we shall come to him and make our dwelling with him.

3. Aria – Bass
Most holy Trinity,
great God of honour,
come then, in this time of grace,
to stay with us,
come then into the tabernacle of our hearts,
though they are small and insignificant,
come and let us persuade you,
come and enter within us!

4. Aria – Tenor
O paradise of the soul
through which the Spirit of God breathes, which blew at the creation
the Spirit, that never passes away, arise, arise, prepare yourself,
the comforter draws near.

5. Duet – Soprano (Soul) – Alto (Holy Ghost)
Come, let me wait no longer, come, you gentle wind of heaven,
blow through the garden of my heart.
- I refresh you, my child - Dearest love, who are so sweet,
the fullness of all delight,
I shall die, if I have to be without you
- Take from me the kiss of grace. -
Be welcome in faith to me,
Highest love, come within!
You have taken my heart from me
- I am yours, and you are mine!

6. Choral
Von Gott kömmt mir ein Freudenschein,
Wenn du mit deinen Äugelein
Mich freundlich tust anblicken.
O Herr Jesu, mein trautes Gut,
Dein Wort, dein Geist, dein Leib und Blut
Mich innerlich erquicken.
Nimm mich freundlich in dein Arme,
dass ich warme werd von Gnaden:
Auf dein Wort komm ich geladen.

6. Chorale
A joyful light comes to me from God when with your dear eyes
you look on me as a friend.
Oh Lord Jesus, my dearest good, your word, your spirit, your body and blood shall refresh me within.
Take me like a friend in your arms,
so that I may become warm with grace:
I come invited by your word.

The explorer Giovanni da Verrazzano, sailing on behalf of the King of France, discovered the long and lush coastline between present-day Virginia and Newfoundland in 1524 and called it “Arcadia” after the Greek province of that name, which since Classical times had come to mean a refuge or idyllic place. In 1603 King Henri IV designated the coast south of the St Lawrence between the 40th and 46th parallels as a French colony under the name “La Cadie” and from that time on map-makers regularly omitted the “r” in charting the territory. The region became the site of increased colonization, regular skirmishes, and outright warfare with British forces over the next 150 years, ending in a complete British triumph during French and Indian War; in the 1750’s, many of the uprooted French-Acadian colonists relocated to Louisiana where they became known as the “Cajuns.”

In the meantime, Louis XIV of France was planning his own idyllic place in the country: a vast expansion of his father’s hunting-lodge in the rural village of Versailles. Louis was possessed of a marketing genius perhaps surpassing even that of certain present-day presidential candidates, and to secure a glorious rollout for his new palais commissioned his court composer Lully and favorite playwright Molière to stage an elaborate five-day pageant entitled Les Plaisirs de L’Isle Enchantée, this filled to the brim with gods and goddesses, classical allusions, and spectacular stage machinery and effects. Louis’ court also featured extensive dressage stables, which in addition to the horses and their riders housed a band of oboists and bassoonists called La Grande Écurie that performed for equestrian ballets and other ceremonial functions. Nobility from all over France were summoned to spend as much time at court as they could, and the most important personages were serenaded with music written in their honor.

The English also had their Arcadian influences, with many works of art celebrating Classical nobility and a pastoral harmony with nature. One common character in drama and poetry was that of the mischievous Fairy Queen, famously portrayed by Spenser in an eponymous play, and even more famously by William Shakespeare in his woodland comedy A Midsummer Night’s Dream. It was to accompany a 1692 production that Henry Purcell composed a series of short masques that relate to the plot of the play metaphorically. Little is known of the circumstances of the first performances, but we do know that the new French hautboys were often played to accompany London theatrical productions.

By 1734, George Frideric Handel had become the most famous musician in London and a favorite of King George II and his court. He had enjoyed a particularly warm and close relationship with Anne, the king’s eldest daughter, who supported his opera seasons, was an accomplished musician herself, and to whom Handel even gave private lessons even though he generally did not enjoy teaching. Anne was betrothed to William IV, Prince of Orange, and asked Handel to compose a serenata, or allegorical semi-opera, for the wedding; the result was Parnasso in Festa (Mount Parnassus in Celebration), a richly-scored work in which Apollo, Orpheus, and a series of other mythological characters take the stage to wish the happy couple well and encourage them to emulate the noble mythological couple Thetis and Peleus, accompanied by much pomp, tenderness, and virtuosity.

Mars:

I above all the tutelary powers,
adored by this high pair’s great ancestors,
my willing tribute come to pay to their loved offspring on their nuptial day, their future glory to declare.
But first let’s martial sounds prepare.
I’ll to the joyful world relate what blessings are reserved for them by fate in its eternal book we see virtue will always their companion be.
A race of heroes they will give and nations in distress relieve.

Chorus:

Let’s speak their triumphs and proclaim their glory
and their love the same.

Orpheus:

O glorious race by heaven designed to bless the hopes of all mankind.
A lovely rivulet from its spring does all its silver brightness bring.
A plant, that opens to the sun, still yields the fairest flowers that paint the vernal fields.

Calliope:
The glorious memory of heroic sires
a thirst of glory in their race inspires.
A noble soul, in noble deeds
all others would out-do;
the example of his fathers to pursue is all he in the chase of glory needs.

Apollo:
I've heard my learned sisters, my dear son and Mars’s warlike song is done;
but you shepherds,
nymphs and swains, why are you silent?
Sing then; with us your voices join to celebrate the feast divine.

And you, ye fauns that haunt the lawns, of fruits and flowers prepare an offering fair Iris you, and ever-fair Aurora too come with us to celebrate.

Chorus:
We come lightly and without delay to celebrate.

Clio:
Let this illustrious pair, the world to bless live in lasting happiness.
May they be the graces’ care their thread of life the fatal sisters spare; whose virtues to the world shall give examples of glory,
that as long will live.

Euterpe:
Let everyone with sincere heart to this illustrious pair offer with me a prayer to heaven.
Great as their heroic race,
lovely in aspect, affable in speech, loved by all.

Apollo:
A pair for virtue so renowned,
with valor, piety and goodnes crowned,
and of such origin divine will in fame’s annals through all ages shine.

Succeeding heroes to the end of time,
shall from this pair descend.
‘Tis Jove's will that they shall ever happy be.
From west to east their fame shall fly, spread over the world and reaching the sky.
If Theseus monsters did to death pursue,
if Hercules the dreadful Hydra slew,
that stock's no more.

Chorus:
‘Tis Jove's decree that they shall ever happy be.
No, no more, that stock’s no more.

Apollo & Chorus:
But on the race of Peleus, supreme fate smiles on you ‘Tis Jove's will that they shall ever happy be.

A lot of wonderful music has been written for the Christmas season over the years, so much that it seems a pity to perform it only in December. This year, Blue Hill Bach is doing its part to remedy this situation.

Arcangelo Corelli (1653-1713) was equally important as a violinist and as a composer. Based in Rome for most of his career, he was instrumental in developing the new forms of concerto, concerto grosso, and trio-sonata. His students included Geminiani, Locatelli, and Castrucci, he was very influential on the young Handel when he was living in Rome, and he also indirectly influenced Bach, who studied and copied printed editions of Corelli’s music that Prince Johann Ernst had sent to Weimar from Corelli’s publisher in Amsterdam. Among these editions were the 12 concerti grossi collected as Opus 6: the eighth of these is inscribed “fatto per la notte di Natale” (written for Christmas Eve) and was possibly commissioned by Cardinal Pietro Ottoboni, who had been one of Corelli’s patrons in Rome.

Bach wrote three major chorale cantatas based on the Martin Luther hymn Nun komm der Heiden Heiland (Now come, savior of the heathen) to be performed during services on the first Sunday of Advent, the beginning of the Lutheran church year. The usual Gospel reading for this service concerned Jesus’ entry into Jerusalem as the crowds shouted “Hosanna,” reflecting this mood the cantatas were festive in nature. The last of these, written for Leipzig in 1731, was Schwingt freudig euch empor (Soar joyfully upwards)—structurally unusual in that an elaborated stanza of the Nun komm chorale precedes each aria instead of the usual recitative. It is likely that Bach’s chorus for Schwingt freudig, as for many of his other cantatas and sacred works, was one singer per part, blurring the distinction between solo and choral sections.

Musical settings of the Magnificat canticle from the Gospel of St. Luke were a regular part of church services in 18th-century Leipzig. These were generally sung as a simple chant trope in Luther’s German on ordinary Sundays, but more elaborately and in Latin on feast days. For Christmas vespers, the Latin text was traditionally interspersed with laudes, songs of praise partly in German and partly in Latin. For Christmas of 1723, Bach’s first year in Leipzig, he followed the practice of his predecessor Johann Kuhnau, taking a Magnificat setting that he had written earlier that year, probably for the Feast of the Visitation in July, and interpolating four laudes including Luther’s own Vom Himmel hoch, da komm ich her (From Heaven above to earth I come).

Bach’s Magnificat setting from 1723 is in E♭ major, including most of the same music as his better-known setting in D major for the Feast of the Visitation in 1733, but there are also some striking variants. Transverse flutes only appear in the later version; in 1723 flutes were omitted entirely in the choruses and were replaced by recorders in the alto aria “Esurientes.” The obligato part of “Quia respexit” is played on a normal oboe, with a notated dotted figure, instead of oboe d’amore, and the cantus firmus for “Suscepit Israel,” an ornamentation of Luther’s original Magni-ficat trope, is played on trumpet. Bach’s setting of the final text, Sicut erat in principio (As it was in the beginning) contains a bit of humor—the music is identical to what is heard at the beginning of the entire piece.

Erster Teil

Coro
Schwingt freudig euch empor zu den erhabnen Sternen,
Ihr Zungen, die ihr itzt in Zion fröhlich seid!
Doch haltet ein!
Der Schall darf sich nicht weit entfernen,
Es naht sich selbst zu euch der Herr der Herrlichkeit.

Choral (Duetto) – Soprano/Alto
Nun komm, der Heiden Heiland,
Der Jungfrauen Kind erkannt,
Des sich wundert alle Welt,
Gott solch Geburt ihm bestellt.

Arie – Tenor
Die Liebe zieht mit sanften Schritten
Sein Treugeliebtes allgemach.
Gleichwie es eine Braut entzücket,
Wenn sie den Bräutigam erblicket,
So folgt ein Herz auch Jesu nach.

Choral
Zwingt die Saiten in Cythara
Und lasst die süße Musica
Ganz freudenreich erschallen,
Dass ich möge mit Jesulein,
Dem wunderschönen Bräutgam mein,
In steter Liebe wallen!
Singet, Springet,
Jubilieret, triumphieret, dankt dem Herren!
Groß ist der König der Ehren.

Zweiter Teil

Aria – Bass
Willkommen, werter Schatz!
Die Lieb und Glaube machet Platz
Vor dich in meinem Herzen rein, Zieh bei mir ein!

Arie – Sopran II
Et exultavit spiritus meus in Deo salutari meo.

Coro: Vom Himmel hoch, da komm ich her.
Ich bring’ euch gute neue Mär,
Der guten Mär bring ich so viel, Davon ich singn und sagen will.

Arie – Sopran I
Quia respexit humilitatem ancillæ suæ:
Ecce enim ex hoc beatam me dicent Coro: ...omnes generationes.

Arie – Basso
Quia fecit mihi magna qui potens est, et sanctum nomen eius.

Coro: Freut euch und jubiliert, zu Bethlehem gefunden wird
das herzliebe Jesulein, das soll euer Freud und Wonne sein.

Duetto – Alt/Tenore
Et misericordia eius a progenie in progenies timentibus eum.

Chorus: My soul magnifies the Lord,

Aria – Soprano II
And my spirit rejoices in God my Saviour.

Chorus: From heaven above I come
To bring good news to you;
So much good news I bring,
Whereof I will say and sing.

Aria – Soprano I
He has looked with favor on his lowly servant.
From this day I will be called blessed

Chorus: ...by all generations.

Aria – Bass
The Almighty has done great things for me and holy is his name.

Chorus: From heaven above I come
To bring good news to you;
So much good news I bring,
Whereof I will say and sing.

Duet – Alto/Tenor
His mercy is from generation to generation on those who fear Him.
At First National Bank, our commitment to the arts runs deep. From chamber music and community theater, to paintings, poetry, and pottery, we respect the artful dedication that goes into the making of masterpieces.
Coro: Fecit potentiam in brachio suo, dispersit superbos mente cordis sui.

Coro: Gloria in excelsis Deo!
Et in terra pax hominibus, bona voluntas!

Arie – Tenore
Deposuit potentes de sede et exaltavit humiles.

Arie – Alt
Esurientes implevit bonis et divites dimisit inanes.

Duetto – Soprano I/Basso
Virga Jesse floruit,
Emmanuel noster apparuit;
Induit carnem hominis,
Fit puer delectabilis; Alleluja.

Terzetto – Soprano I/Soprano II/Alt
Suscepit Israel puerum suum recordatus misericordiæ suæ,

Coro: Sicut locutus est ad patres nostros,
Abraham et semini eius in sæcula.

Coro: Gloria Patri, et Filio, et Spiritui Sancto:
Sicut erat in principio, et nunc, et semper, et in sæcula sæculorum. Amen.

Chorus: He has shown strength with His arm and has scattered the proud in their conceit.

Chorus: Glory to God in the highest!
And on earth peace and goodwill to all!

Aria – Tenor
Casting the mighty from their thrones and lifting up the lowly.

Aria – Alto
He has filled the hungry with good things and sent the rich away empty.

Duet – Soprano I/Bass
The branch of Jesse flowers,
Our Emmanuel appears;
He takes on the flesh of humanity,
Becoming a charming boy; Alleluia.

Terzetto – Soprano I/Soprano II/Alto
He has come to the aid of His servant Israel, to remember his promise of mercy,

Chorus: The promise made to our ancestors,
to Abraham and his children for ever.

Chorus: Glory to the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit:
As it was in the beginning, and now, and always,
and forever and ever. Amen.

Recitativo – Tenore:
So stehe dann bei Christi blutgefärbten Fahne,
O Seele, fest und glaube,
Dass dein Haupt dich nicht verlässt,
Ja, dass sein Sieg
Auch dir den Weg zu deiner Krone bahne!
Tritt freudig an den Krieg!
Wirst du nur Gottes Wort so hören als bewahren,
So wird der Feind gezwungen auszufahren,
Dein Heiland bleibt dein Hort!

Duetto – Alt, Tenore:
Wie selig sind doch die, die Gott im Munde tragen, Doch seliger ist das Herz, das ihn im Glauben trägt!
Es bleibt unbesiegt und kann die Feinde schlagen
Und wird zuletzt gekrönt, wenn es den Tod erlegt.

Choral:
Das Wort sie sollen lassen stahn
Und kein' Dank dazu haben.
Er ist bei uns wohl auf dem Plan
Mit seinem Geist und Gaben.
Nehmen sie uns den Leib,
Gut, Ehr, Kind und Weib,
Laß fahren dahin,
Sie habens kein' Gewinn;
Das Reich muss uns doch bleiben.

Recitative – Tenor:
Then take your stand by Christ’s bloodstained banner,
O soul, firmly, and trust
That your Leader will not forsake you,
Yes, that His victory
Will open the way to your crown!
March joyfully on to war!
If only God’s word is both heard and obeyed,
Then your enemy will be forced to withdraw,
Your Savior is your shield!

Duet – Alto, Tenor:
How blessed are those who bear God in their mouths,
But more blessed is the heart that holds God in faith
It remains unconquered and can strike its enemies
And will be crowned when death has been defeated.

Chorale:
That word they must allow to stand
And have no thanks for it.
He is indeed with us by his own plan
With His Spirit and His gifts.
Let them take our body
Wealth, honor, child and wife,
Let them be taken away,
They cannot win;
The kingdom is ours forever.

Gegrüßet seist du, Holdselige

Gabriel:
Gegrüßet seist du, Holdselige, der Herr ist mit dir,
du Gebenedeite unter den Weibern.
Fürchte dich nicht, Maria,
du hast Gnade bei Gott funden.
Siehe, du wirst schwanger werden im Leibe und einen Sohn gebären, dass Namen sollst du Jesus heissen.
Der wird Gott und ein Sohn des Höchsten genannt werden, und Gott der Herr wird ihm den Stuhl seines Vaters David geben;
und wird ein König sein über das Haus Jacob ewiglich, und seines Königreichtums wird kein Ende sein.

Maria:
Wie soll das zugehen, sintelmal ich von keinem Manne weiss?

Gabriel:
Der heilige Geist wird über dich kommen,
und die Kraft des Höchsten wird dich überschatten;
darum auch das Heilige, das von dir geboren wird, wird Gottes Sohn genannt werden.
Und siehe, Elisabeth, deine Gefreundte, ist auch schwanger mit einem Sohn,
und gehet jetzt im sechsten Mond,
die im Geschrei ist, dass sie unfruchtbar sei.
Denn bei Gott ist kein Ding unmöglich.

Maria:
Siehe, ich bin des Herren Magd;
mir geschehe wie du gesaget hast. Alleluia.

Gabriel:
Greetings, O favored one, the Lord is with you,
you are blessed among women.
Do not be afraid, Maria,
for you have found favor with God.
Behold, you will conceive in your womb and bear a son, and you will call His name Jesus.
He will be great and will be called the Son of the Most High, and the Lord God will give to Him
the throne of his father David;
and He will reign over the house of Jacob forever
And of His kingdom there will be no end.

Maria:
How can this be,
since I have not known a man?

Gabriel:
The Holy Spirit will come upon you,
and the power of the Highest will overshadow you;
therefore the Holy One, the Child to be born will be called the Son of God.
And behold, your cousin Elizabeth has also conceived a son, and is now in her sixth month,
even in her old age, she who was called barren.
For nothing is impossible with God.

Maria:
Behold, I am the servant of the Lord;
let it be according to your word. Alleluia.

Program Notes – Matthias Weckmann was a Lutheran church musician of the mid-17th century, holding posts at the Electoral court in Dresden and the Jakobkirche in Hamburg. A student of Schütz and Froberger, his eclectic and dramatic music was influenced by the Italian concertato style and also by expressionistic Pietism that figured in German theology during the agonies of the Thirty Years’ War. Weckmann’s “Dialogue” between Gabriel and Mary presents the German translation of the Ave Maria text found in Luke 1:28, with florid Italianate ornamentation by both characters, punctuated by equally elaborate interjections by pairs of violins and recorders.

Notes and texts for Cantata 172 may be found on pp. 5 & 9; for the Magnificat, pp. 27 & 31.

About Blue Hill Bach.

The mission of Blue Hill Bach is to present historically informed performances, recordings, and educational programs that explore vocal and instrumental music of the Baroque, as well as repertoire that demonstrates the place of Baroque music within the span of music history.

Blue Hill Bach was founded in 2011 to bring Baroque music for voice and period instruments to coastal Downeast Maine. Drawing upon the wealth of talent in the region—including college and high school students—and visiting artists who specialize in early music, Blue Hill Bach presents some of the most beautiful and profound music ever written, performed as Bach himself would have imagined it. The young organization has attracted a strong audience for its concerts, and support from individuals, businesses, and institutions throughout the region, and is a recipient of Early Music America's Outreach Grant for 2016-2017.

We strive to involve the community in our activities in as many ways as possible, and are very grateful for the hard work of our many volunteers. Above all, we work to offer musical experiences that are, in the words of an Advisory Board member, “relaxed, accessible, and friendly—with formidable musicians.”

For more information, go to www.bluehillbach.org

About the Artists

Heralded as angelic and stylish in her interpretations of Bach and Mozart, Abigail Lennox, soprano, is equally at home with genres ranging from early plainchant to improvised avant-garde. Originally from Bartlett, Tennessee, she began her vocal studies at the University of Michigan and completed her master’s degree in voice at the Yale Institute of Sacred Music. She has performed as soloist in such performances as Bach St. John Passion under Simon Carrington, Mozart Vespers with Sir David Willcocks and again with Sir Neville Marriner, Bach Magnificat in E-flat major with Helmuth Rilling, Steve Reich Daniel Variations with the New World Symphony, Purcell Dido and Aeneas with Apollo's Fire, and Bach Weihnachts Oratorium, Bach B minor Mass, and Monteverdi Vespers of 1610 with the American Bach Soloists under Jeffrey Thomas. Ms. Lennox enjoys teaching young musicians and collaborating with fellow artists in addition to pursuing a solo career.

Australian soprano Nola Richardson has been praised by the NYTimes for her “beautiful tone” and the Washington Post for her “astonishing balance and accuracy”, “crystalline diction” and “natural-sounding ease”. She made her major symphony debut with the Baltimore Symphony performing works by Bach and Scarlatti and recently performed a program of Sondheim as a soloist with the Boston Pops under conductor Keith Lockhart. She has appeared with the American Bach Soloists, the Bach Sinfonia, Les Délices, the Baltimore Choral Arts Society, Tempesta di Mare, and the Bach in Baltimore Series. As a DMA student at Yale she has performed as a soloist with conductors Masaaki Suzuki, Simon Carrington, David Hill, Matthew Halls and Nicholas McGegan. Last summer, Ms. Richardson was a fellow at Tanglewood where she premiered works by David Lang and Michael Gandolfi alongside soprano Dawn Upshaw. In 2013, she was a young artist in the American stage debut of Handel's first opera, Almira, at the Boston Early Music Festival. Ms. Richardson holds two MM degrees from the Peabody Conservatory and she was the first singer to ever be accepted as an external candidate into both the Yale Voxtet and DMA program. www.NolaRichardson.com Catharine Cloutier, mezzo-soprano, is a recent graduate of the University of Maine, Orono. A music education major with a vocal concentration at the University, she has performed in ensembles that include the University of Maine Singers, Euphony, Opera Workshop, and Oratorio Society. She also served as the director of Renaissance, the University’s premier women’s a cappella group. A student of Francis Vogt and previously of Diana Brookes Brown, Ms. Cloutier’s recent performances include tours of New England, New York, Ireland, and the United Kingdom with the University Singers. She is an active performer with the Somerset Consort and has appeared with the Gilbert and Sullivan Society of Maine.

Founder and director of Blue Hill Bach, mezzo-soprano Marcia Gronewold Sly has appeared with organizations that include American Bach Soloists, Philharmonia Baroque Orchestra, San Francisco Opera, Bangor Symphony Orchestra, and the Kronos Quartet, working with such esteemed conductors as Kent Nagano, Nicholas McGegan, Joanne Falletta, and William McGlaughlin. She has sung in premiere performances and recordings of numerous works. Ms. Gronewold Sly holds degrees from San Francisco Conservatory of Music, San Francisco State University, and Mills College. As a writer and arts administrator, she has worked with organizations that include San Francisco Opera, Northeast Historic Film, and the Young Musicians Program of U.C. Berkeley. She currently serves on the voice faculty at University of Maine, Orono.

Mezzo-soprano Lorna Stephens is a senior in the five-year double degree program in vocal performance and history at Lawrence University, where she has worked extensively in the opera studies program, singing lead roles in Britten’s The Beggar’s Opera and in scenes from Menotti’s The Medium and Cavalli’s L’Egisto. A graduate of George Stephens Academy, she has been a regular member of the Blue Hill Bach ensemble since 2013, and has performed as a soloist with the Bagaduce Chorale and on the stage of New Surry Theatre. Recent performances include debuts of student pieces, a solo recital, and a 40th anniversary presentation of Steve Reich’s Music for 18 Musicians.

Michael Percy Albert has performed as a soloist on oboe, recorder, Baroque violin, and as countertenor throughout the U.S., Canada, and Europe. As a violinist and countertenor, he has performed with Seraphic Fire, the Firebird Orchestra, Ecclesia, Tableau, and St. Mary’s Schola. A jazz oboist with Initial Ascent, a Toronto-based band, he has played fiddle and whistle with the Beggar Boys Celtic band, and principal oboe with the Portland and Bangor Symphonies and the North Shore Philharmonic Orchestra. Mr. Albert composes and performs film scores, and can be heard on the CD labels “Initial Ascent” and “Sentences from the Womb,” and in the P.B.S. documentaries “Haiti’s Small Miracles” and “Sweet Ambition.” A member of the faculty of Portland Conservatory of Music, he has taught oboe and coached early music at Colby College. Mr. Albert received his education in performance from the University of Southern Maine, Interlochen, and the Longy School of Music.

Tenor Jonas Budris is a versatile soloist and small ensemble singer, engaging new works and early music with equal passion. He sings frequently with Boston Baroque and the Handel and Haydn Society as a soloist and choral singer. He also enjoys performing in more intimate musical settings; this season he made his debut with Blue Heron, and he is a longstanding member of the Skylark Vocal Ensemble. Mr. Budris is a 2013–2014 Lorraine Hunt Lieberson Fellow at Emmanuel Music, where he performs regularly in the Bach Cantata and evening concert series. On the opera stage, he has performed principal and supporting roles with numerous musical organizations, including Opera Boston, Guerilla Opera, and Odyssey Opera. Originally from Martha’s Vineyard, Mr. Budris holds a degree in Environmental Sciences & Engineering from Harvard College.
Francis John Vogt, tenor, is the Director of Choral Activities at the University of Maine, where he conducts the University Singers and Oratorio Society, and teaches voice and choral conducting. He is music director of the critically acclaimed chamber choir EUPHONY, which specializes in 20th and 21st century choral repertoire. He has been a guest conductor, choral clinician and adjudicator in Maine, Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin, Missouri, and Kansas. He received degrees in Vocal Performance from the Hartt School of Music and the State University of New York College at Fredonia, and did doctoral work in Choral Conducting at the University of Missouri-Kansas City. He has performed, recorded, and toured nationally and internationally with the Dale Warland Singers and the Gregg Smith Singers and has sung professionally with many renowned conductors, including Robert Shaw, Robert Craft (with whom he recorded two discs in that conductor’s complete Stravinsky cycle), Edo de Waart, Hugh Wolff, and Robert Spano. Additional performing credits include appearances with Garrison Keillor, the St. Paul Chamber Orchestra, the Minnesota Orchestra, the Orchestra of St. Luke’s, the Maine Shakespeare Festival, Penobscot Theatre, Gilbert and Sullivan Society of Maine, and the Bangor Symphony Orchestra.

John David Adams has enjoyed a career in concert, opera, recital, and ensembles on both coasts of the United States. Noted for the “depth and power” of his singing and “consistently polished and graceful” performances, his repertoire ranges from Baroque masterworks to world-premiere compositions. Concert credits include performances with the San Francisco Symphony, Berkeley Symphony, San Francisco Bach Choir, North Shore Philharmonic, Arlington Philharmonic, Midcoast Symphony, Maine Pro Musica, Masterworks Chorale, Choral Arts Society, and Oratorio Chorale. He is a member of Maine’s professional early music ensemble St. Mary Schola, and a returning artist at the White Mountain Bach and Portland Early Music festivals. He is equally praised for diverse opera and musical stage roles, including productions by Opera Boston, San Francisco Lyric Opera, Berkeley Opera, Granite State Opera, PORTopera, Apollo Opera, and New England Light Opera. He studied voice and opera at Hartt School of Music and the San Francisco Conservatory of Music, and currently serves on the voice faculty at Bay Chamber Music School in Rockport, Maine.

Colorado native Jacob Cooper’s ebullient stage presence has been recognized on the opera stage (“stunning” – The Boston Globe), in recital, and as a dynamic component of ensembles. He is a member of many of New England’s premiere period ensembles, including solo turns with the Handel and Haydn Society, Emmanuel Music, Arcadia Players, and Cambridge Concentus. He has also performed with Boston Baroque, Boston Modern Opera Project, Juventas New Music Ensemble, Schola Cantorum of Boston, The Marsh Chapel Choir and others. A noted commitment to the sung text has been heard in his “impeccable diction” (Classical Voice of New England) and in showcasing “the best piece of Shakespearean acting I’ve seen all year” (HubReview). Opera roles include Lord Collins (Ruthven) in OperaHub’s production of Marschner’s Der Vampyr, Saul in Charpentier’s David et Jonathas, Ford (Falstaff), Leporello (Don Giovanni), Belcore (L’Elisir d’Amore), and John Brooke (Little Women).
Violinist Susanna Ogata enjoys an active performance schedule in greater New England and beyond. She has been praised for “totally convincing, spontaneous and free-flowing playing” (The Berkshire Review) and her musical “sensitivity and fire” (Boston Musical Intelligencer). Dedicated to exploring music on historical instruments, she has participated in concerts presented by the Bach Ensemble led by Joshua Rifkin, Arcadia Players, Newton Baroque, Sarasa, and Boston Early Music Festival Series. A tenured member of the Handel and Haydn Society, she was appointed as Assistant Concertmaster of the orchestra in 2014. Ms. Ogata has recorded for Nonesuch and Telarc and has been featured on WGBH radio broadcasts. She has recently embarked with fortepianist Ian Watson on “The Beethoven Project” to survey and record the complete Sonatas for Fortepiano and Violin of Beethoven on period instruments. The New York Times praised them for “elegant readings that are attentive to quicksilver changes in dynamics and articulation.” Ms. Ogata received degrees from the Eastman School of Music and completed an artist diploma at the Longy School of Music.

Jude Ziliak is a violinist specialized in historical performance practices. A member of the American Bach Soloists, Sonnambula, Clarion Music Society, and New Vintage Baroque, he has also performed with William Christie and Les Arts Florissants at the Festival dans les Jardins de William Christie, and with Musica Angelica, Trinity Wall Street Baroque Orchestra, Gotham Chamber Opera, New York Baroque Incorporated, and concert Royal. Mr. Ziliak studied Baroque violin at The Juilliard School, where his teachers were Monica Huggett and Cynthia Roberts. He was an inaugural recipient of the English Concert American Fellowship and the 2014 Blue Hill Bach Marville Young Artist Fellow. He has served as concertmaster under Richard Egarr (Britten-Pears), Jordi Savall (Juilliard415), and Andrew Litton (National Orchestral Institute), and for R.B. Schlather's pioneering Alcina at WhiteBox Art Center. Raised in Sewanee, Tennessee, Mr. Ziliak resides in New York City, where he teaches at the Special Music School, New York's public school for musically gifted children.

Daniel Elyar, violin/viola, is an active performer and recording artist specializing in Baroque performance practice with ensembles in Europe and North America that include Tafelmusik, the Utrecht Baroque Consort, Concerto d'Amsterdam, Teatro Lirico, Concerto Palatino, Les Arts Florissants, the Boston Early Music Festival Orchestra, the New York Collegium, The King's Noyse, Ensemble REBEL, and the Trinity Baroque Orchestra.
